FESTIVAL OF IDEAS 2024

The world today is mired in a polycrisis that threatens the foundations of shared prosperity and progress. More than ever, we need good governance within nations in Asia and across the international community. Ideas matter.

They must be grounded in research and communicated to decision makers and the wider public to bring about change. This has been the mission of the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy since its establishment twenty years ago.

As we mark this milestone, we invite you to engage with our faculty, students and partners on the transformative ideas and issues reshaping our world in the Festival of Ideas 2024.
